Graduates show continued resilience as world emerges from pandemic disruption

Following a second year of global disruption, the emergent hiring landscape was met positively by the 2020/21 Oxford MBA Students, with the employment rate of 86% for our students staying level with the previous year.

We are pleased to report a rise in overall average salaries to £78,895, up from £71,940 last year. Most sectors saw a rise in average salary but average salaries in finance rose significantly (£87,196 up from £69,800 last year) reflecting the strong rebound in financial activity and fight for talent.

This year more students than ever secured roles in Consulting firms, 27.8% up from 20.8% last year. A third of students gained roles in the Finance sector, 33.3% also up from 29.8% last year and Global Industries, including Technology and Healthcare, accounted for the remaining 39% of positions secured reflecting continuing commercial confidence and growth.

Oxford Said celebrates a highly diverse student cohort. The second year of global uncertainty was reflected in a shift in the destination countries of Oxford MBA students, with a significant swing back towards students securing roles in the UK and Europe - 63% compared with 43% last year.

144 different organisations globally hired Oxford MBA talent this set period, demonstrating the diversity broad range of organisations and roles our students achieve after graduation.

In a shifting global landscape, we are excited to watch their continued trajectory. We wish them great success within their new roles in organisations worldwide, knowing they will demonstrate the brilliance, impact and resilience shown here at Oxford.
