About us

Saïd Business School blends the best of new and old.

A young, vibrant and innovative business school that's embedded in an 800-year-old world-class university. It's a place where we study how successful businesses appreciate the rules of the game – written and unwritten, and then we study how they can create new games – through entrepreneurship, innovation and transformational infrastructure programmes. As a part of the University of Oxford, we don't just talk about how business interacts with the broader world, but we experience it as we engage with Oxford colleagues from many other backgrounds and with the broader business community.

Unlike traditional academic programmes, executive education focuses on practical skills and knowledge relevant to your career. We deliver programmes worldwide for individuals and organisations, in-person and online; covering subjects such as leadership skills, strategic thinking, financial management, or even cutting-edge industry trends. It's not just about learning theory; it's about gaining practical insights and tools that can be immediately applied to solve real-world challenges in your workplace.

‘Our programmes provide a unique opportunity for senior executives and current and aspiring leaders to draw from the entire Oxford Saïd education ecosystem, accelerating personal growth, advancing professional development, and amplifying their impact across organisations, industries, and society.

Through carefully curated learning experiences, we foster meaningful dialogue between our world-leading faculty and a network of global leaders to provide a much-needed opportunity for leaders to retreat and reflect, resulting in lasting learning and change.

We draw on the Oxford tradition of bringing fresh perspectives to global challenges and opportunities, and we invite leaders to ask critical questions of themselves and their organisations.

I warmly invite you to join us, to learn and to be challenged and inspired, in the heart of the world’s leading University.’

Louise Croft

Managing Director, Executive Education

A global experience

We are an international organisation and your executive education will be a global experience.

The convening power of the University of Oxford enables us to assemble participant groups from across five continents, allowing you to debate common and contrasting perspectives with a diverse group of peers.

Over the last year we welcomed participants from 90 different countries across our programmes.

Trend data is taken from across our previous cohorts.

Learn in the way that suits you

We deliver cutting-edge education and ground-breaking research that transforms individuals, organisations and society.

Our programmes are specifically designed for business professionals and executives to enhance their skills, knowledge and leadership capabilities.

We provide executives with the latest insights, tools and frameworks to help you navigate the rapidly changing business landscape and make informed decisions.

You can learn with us in a way that suits you and your organisation, whether that's in-person at our Oxford campus, one of flexible online programmes or via a bespoke learning solution that addresses critical business challenges.

Programmes for organisations

Our bespoke programmes are customised to address the unique challenges and goals of your organisation and industry. By combining Oxford academics and leading research with the specific goals and challenges your organisation faces, we create a fully customised learning experience, in-person, online or via blended study that delivers real value for your business.

Every organisation is different, and we know that each require unique interventions to address particular challenges and opportunities. We integrate a range of components into a bespoke and powerful learning experience to deliver your desired outcomes.

We have collaborated on executive education solutions for a diverse spectrum of global businesses and major public sector bodies, including:

- Government
- Pharmaceutical
- Aerospace and engineering
- Professional services
- Membership organisations
- Energy and resources
- Financial services
- Retail
- Technology
- Public administration

'I had coffee with Andrew White, I explained my vision for what we wanted to create. Three hours later, we were still sketching out what turned into this amazing programme.'

Chief Executive Officer, Chief of Staff Association

Tailored programmes

In close collaboration with you, we can tailor any of our programmes to suit your organisational needs and the unique challenges of your industry.

Our goal is to ensure learning is translated into action and our educational experiences have a significant impact for individuals as well as their organisation.

Online tailored programmes

Our online programmes are an accessible way to benefit from everything Oxford has to offer, with the convenience of self-paced learning, and with a tailored programme you can be sure it's meeting the specific goals of your organisation.

We offer an immersive learning experience for your employees where they work alongside our faculty, benefiting from best-in-class pedagogy and world-class research aligned with industry challenges, all the while collaborating with colleagues to share perspectives and the post-programme application of their learning.

Geography is no longer a boundary when it comes to learning excellence, and our tailored online programmes are a unique way to meet any organisational challenge or learning need, unlocking a world of possibilities that can nurture talent at any stage.

Global Leadership Centre

Our new Global Leadership Centre opens in Spring 2026, a welcoming space for education, convening and retreat, in the heart of Oxford.

The Global Leadership Centre will see us continue the Oxford tradition of inspiring individuals and bringing fresh perspectives to global challenges and opportunities.

A landmark in the city of Oxford, the 7500m² complex will include high quality spaces for teaching, networking and relaxation. It also has a riverside terrace, a gym, large dining spaces and smaller more intimate spaces for group work or quiet reflection.

The Global Leadership Centre is located a short walk from our Saïd Business School, Park End Street site, creating a mini 'campus' supporting closer links between business and management research and practice. The GLC will help us further deepen our close links with other University of Oxford departments.

In addition, the development of the GLC will be part of the regeneration of the west end of the city of Oxford, which is creating jobs and opportunities for the local community.

Programmes for individuals

In-person

In Oxford you will make rich connections with a diverse global cohort, opening your mind to new perspectives. Programmes are designed to ensure a practical learning experience that will challenge and engage you, as well as equip you with the skills you need to excel.

In-person study allows you to benefit from direct access to some of the greatest minds across a wide range of industries, as well as real-time feedback and tailored coaching from acclaimed mentors.

Through team discussions, simulations and practical sessions, you will embark on a learning journey that will prepare you to thrive in today's ever-changing climate.

Online

Our online programmes are designed to provide an immersive and collaborative learning experience as well as access to world-class faculty and experts, no matter where you are in the world.

Each of our online programmes is updated regularly to align with topical and current industry challenges, ensuring real-world, post-course application.

You'll benefit from dedicated support networks, including peer-to-peer discussions and success advisers, that will guide and encourage you throughout your study.

Stacked credentials

Our stacked credentials involve the accumulation of multiple smaller programmes over time. This modular approach allows learners to build a customised and flexible skill set by completing various short programmes.

Stacked credentials are advantageous for individuals seeking to incrementally enhance their expertise, providing a tangible representation of continuous learning and adaptability in a rapidly evolving professional landscape.

Oxford experience

Oxford is one of the world's leading research universities, with a vast global network of connections with governments, organisations and international institutions.

It is an environment conducive to study, in which reflection is valued and differing experiences and opinions are respected. Most of all, Oxford is a safe place in which you can ask questions, experiment and try out new ideas, learning from a wide variety of people with different backgrounds, life experiences and interests.

The programme will provide interaction and networking opportunities with classmates, faculty and industry guests, as well as the opportunity to try many unique Oxford experiences. As a participant, you will enjoy programme dinners with your class in historic Oxford colleges, along with social activities designed to embrace the rich traditions, cultural and intellectual flavours of the city, such as a historic walking tour and punting on the river.

Whilst in Oxford, why not explore the art and archaeology collections at the Ashmolean Museum, Britain's first public museum, dating back to 1683. If you prefer something more lively, you can also attend a debate at the Oxford Union, or visit one of Oxford's famous pubs where literary greats such as C S Lewis and J R R Tolkien met.

Oxford online experience

Our flexible online programmes, structured in weekly modules, empower busy professionals to excel without compromising work and family commitments.

You'll be supported by a dedicated Success Advisor to ensure effective goal-setting and time management. Our subject expert tutors will guide discussions, address queries and review assignments.

Each week you will engage in a mixture of:

- Videos and audio content, created exclusively for the programme
- Quizzes and exercises designed specifically to help you understand and retain new information
- Dialogue with your Academic Director, tutors and peers via discussion forums and small group sessions
- Simulations and other carefully crafted interactions to provide an engaging learning experience
- Real-life examples that place information in context to help you understand how the concepts delivered in the material can be applied to your work environment
